

"Intelligent RPA now enables bots to do much more than handle structured data; one such complex tasks being the audit and compliance of displays and pricing information of products listed in ecommerce sites."

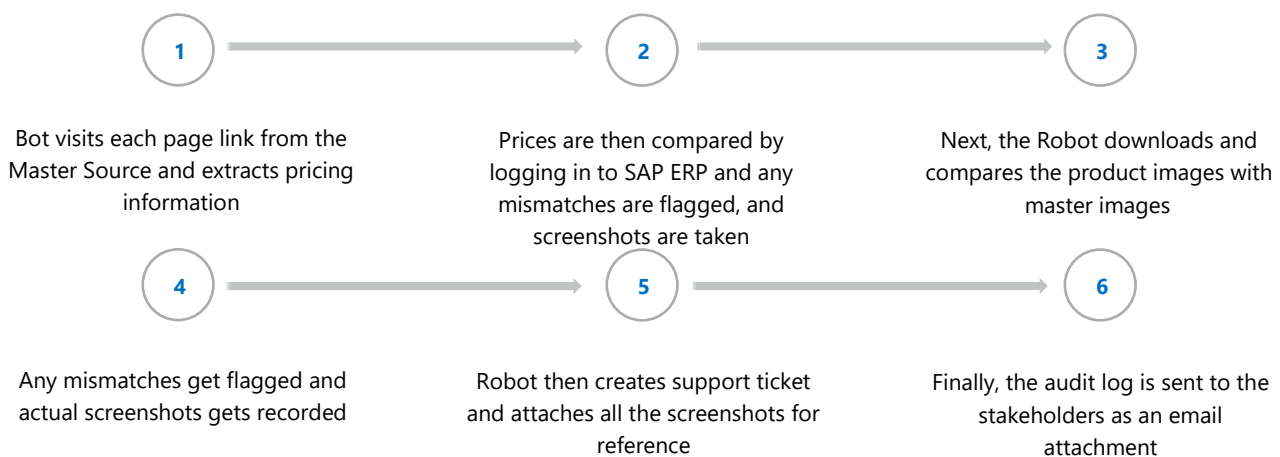

Content Audit Automation

Ensuring 100% information accuracy of your online products through Intelligent Automation

Bots do ensure audit and compliance!

An e-commerce company wanted to tackle the problem of incorrectly mapped online-store product images that could be attributed to disparate systems, its ever-increasing SKUs and data-entry errors. An Intelligent RPA enabled audit automation connected disparate systems, compared product images and did reporting to help resolve matters. The Robot compares images from the portal with the local folder repository, all this at a lightning speed of less than a second for each image. The RPA solution ensured product images are tagged to their corresponding page links with the correct price and there were no queries attributed to incorrect information.
